The Living Dead

The dead walk among us. Zombies with only rudimentary instincts and emotions wander our world.

I've seen them on my way to work. The glassy-eyed stare at the road, the barely perceptible grunt to the drive-thru clerk and the instinctively negative response to a change in their daily routine are common traits of the undead.

It's as though something has gnawed through to the brains of these cursed individuals and devoured their ability to emote, to connect with the world or to be conscious of anything outside of their basic human needs. They seem to have lost their free will.

The living dead I speak of are indeed alive in the physical sense of the word but, are dead in respect to their capacity to respond or adapt to a changing world. For them, life has become a finite number of repetitious tasks performed over and over and nothing more.

My response to zombies encountered along the path is to step up the pace and run ahead. And trust me, even at my age, it's not all that difficult. The slow and shambling gait of a zombie combined with their inability to anticipate change and modify their response (i.e. evolve) make them easily-managed adversaries.

However, sometimes outperforming the undead isn't enough. While avoiding the gnashing of teeth allows me to live another day - it doesn't accomplish what I want which is to awaken the dead from their slumber, to empower them to rise up against their bokor and make changes in their lives and to the world in which they live.

It is only through education, real knowledge and not just schooling, that we can aspire to cure the cursed. Otherwise the undead will be destined to shuffle our streets and offices, dead to the world, for eternity.

As for me, I'm staying nimble and plan to keep working on the cure.

The NGEAO offers a cure for the cursed. Attend NGEAO's summer luncheons and get inoculated with knowledge about the energy industry. Join us!

Behind the Energy: A Different Look at the People Who Make Up NGEAO

"If I was starting out in the natural gas business today, I would want David Kerrigan as my mentor," Mark Edge

Founded in a commitment to continually grow, David Kerrigan enjoys the renewed fast pace of the energy business. Kerrigan is the Manager of Gas Sale for Chesapeake Energy Marketing, Inc., located in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Kerrigan's experience in the energy business began in 1980.

"I started out as a landman for C&M Land Services," Kerrigan said.

"After growing up in Edmond, Oklahoma, becoming a landman seemed like a logical step," explained Kerrigan.

"Then, in 1990, I began my career in the natural gas industry with Delhi Gas Pipeline as contract administrator."

"In 1996 I went to Enogex as a gas marketing representative," Kerrigan said.

"Ultimately, I ended up at Chesapeake in 2003 and am here today."

David is a tremendous asset to Chesapeake's team.

Mark Edge, Vice President of Gas Sales with Chesapeake Energy Marketing, Inc, said, "you couldn't have picked a better person to highlight, his knowledge of the business coupled with his patience and willingness to teach is invaluable to Chesapeake as we continue to hire young people."

"He is always willing to stop what he's doing to explain and teach complex issues to our younger employees," Edge said.

Kerrigan's expertise and industry experience is felt by everyone he works with.

Jim Johnson, President of Chesapeake Energy Marketing, Inc., said, "He always takes the time and effort necessary to discern all of the facts before making a decision and does an excellent job of thinking through the details and asking pertinent questions to gain additional insight into projects."

Kerrigan's reputation precedes him in business.

"You can't go anywhere with David without him running into somebody he knows - no matter where you are," Johnson said.

David Hollingsworth, Director of Gas Acquisitions at Atlas Pipeline Mid-Continent LLC, said, "Because he has had years of experience on both sides of the producer/pipeline negotiation table, David brings the knowledge and expertise into any negotiation that will ensure a positive outcome."

There are several things

most people do not know about David.

Kerrigan earned a Bachelor's of Science in Horticulture, Landscape Design from Oklahoma State University (OSU).

"Two of my favorite things to do are spend time at Lake Eufaula and work outside in my yard," Kerrigan said.

David is married to a wonderful lady, Paula.

The Kerrigan's have two fantastic daughters; Katie who recently graduated from OSU and Kim who is currently attending OSU.

Kerrigan is a wonderful role model for any person new to the energy business.

"If I was starting out in the natural gas business today, I would want David Kerrigan as my mentor," Edge said

David, we are glad to have you on board with the NGEAO.

Shootin' Great, Again in '08

The 3rd Annual NGEAO Sporting Clays Tournament was, again, a huge success. On Thursday, April 17th, sixty-six (66) NGEAO members participated in the 100 clay target event at Silverleaf Shotgun Sports in Guthrie. Karl Klanke with Marabou Midstream claimed the top prize with a score of 87. Although the wind was a little stronger than normal, the weather turned out great and everyone had a good time.

The variety of BBQ meats catered by Earl's Rib Palace was a hit. In total, over $7,100 worth of awards and prizes were given away. "Thanks to our generous sponsors and our large participation, the organization was able to put on a 1st class event. We have been doing this for 3 years now, and we anticipate that the event will continue to grow and be successful", said Josh Baskett, NGEAO Board Member. Baskett also added, "Not only is this a great event for our existing members, but it also allows us to grow our membership. This year the clay shoot brought in 14 new members"

NGEAO hosts monthly meetings in Tulsa and Oklahoma City throughout the year. The largest event the organization puts together is the annual Sports Tournament every September. The Sporting Clays tournament allows the organization to put on another large event during the year, giving the members another opportunity to network in a casual setting

Thank you to all of the volunteers who helped to make this event a success!

Did You Know?

Algae oil can be farmed/produced at a rate of 100,000 gallons per acre compared to corn's 30 gallons per acre and soy's 50 gallons per acre.

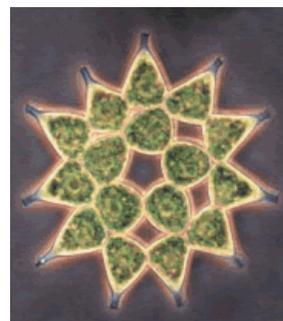

By locating an algae farm next to a power or manufacturing plant the algae could utilize the CO₂ produced by the facility. The CO₂ would provide the algae with its fuel for photosynthesis. It's a symbiotic relationship.

algae in regards to an energy alternative

Membership Directory Reminder

Please go to www.ngeao.org and update all your membership information before the new directory is printed. We are adding new data fields such as "Title" to the printed directory and you will want yours to be correct. The deadline for this update is July 15th, as NGEAO needs time to process the information prior to the sports tournament. You must be a member in good standing to attend the sports tournament and be listed in the membership directory. Your current membership expires on June 30, 2008, so please renew today.

Did you know that as a member of NGEAO, you have access to the membership directory online? The online directory gives you the option to post your picture along with your contact information. You can "cut & paste" your photo into your profile anytime. This is a wonderful tool that has been under utilized. To help remedy that situation we have made it easy for our members to have their photo included in the ONLINE directory. NGEAO has arranged to have a professional photographer take headshots for us. They will set up at the Cherokee Casino on the Wednesday, September 17th, a couple of hours before the Sports Tournament mixer begins. The photographers will then give the digital photos to NGEAO and we will upload the photos to your profile for you. This is a Free service for our members. The photos will be in the ONLINE directory ONLY. More information regarding the photo session will be included in the Sports Tournament Registration to be released at a later date.

Coming Soon—More Opportunities Brought to YOU by NGEAO

NGEAO Partners with OERB to create new certification program

Beginning in the fall of 2008 NGEAO and OERB will begin a new certification under OERB's Petro-Tech program. A Contract Administration Technician certification and a Volume Control Technician certification will be available. In addition to these certifications, classes in Gas Balancing will be offered as electives.

NGEAO has been asked to recruit the faculty and develop the curriculum. We are currently looking for industry professionals who would be willing to assist us in this endeavor. Through this program NGEAO will have a direct effect on the current shortage of qualified personnel for our members.

Please contact Rick Fitzgerald at 281-293-1266 or via email at rick.fitzgerald@conocophillips.com with any questions about this project.

And the Winners are....

Early Bird Winners

This year's winners of the Early Bird Membership Renewal Drive are Steve McGuire with Williams and David Hollingsworth with Atlas.

Each will receive a $50 VISA gift card, compliments of NGEAO. Both members renewed their membership by June 15, 2008 making them eligible for the Early Bird drawing. There were 214 members in the drawing.

We would like to thank you for your membership in NGEAO and look forward to another great year. The coming year presents opportunities and tools for our members that can't be found anywhere else. While it is not too late to renew your membership or join NGEAO, the deadline for 2008-9 printed directory is JULY 15. Anyone who renews or joins after that date will not be listed in the printed NGEAO Directory. The online directory is always available to members with their most current information all year long.

2008 Sports Tournament

The 2008 Sports Tournament is just a round the corner and committees are now forming to take on the challenge. For instance, we will need to increase the size of the bowling committee this year to accommodate the members who want to participate (apparently the word is getting out that Bill Shanahan and Theresa Whiteside really know how to throw a party!)

We are excited to announce the field trip this year will be a tour of the Terra Nitrogen fertilizer plant near the Port of Catoosa. Terra has graciously agreed to allow us to tour their facility which burns in excess of 100,000 MMBtu/day. This plant is the largest, most efficient plant of its type in Oklahoma (tour is limited to 40 participants).

New this year is the Mini Spa where on Wednesday morning you can treat yourself to a manicure, reflexology treatment, and back/shoulder massage while visiting with other tournament attendees.

Golf has been expanded to 104 participants in the morning flight and 72 participants in the afternoon flight. Texas Hold 'em Poker will be limited to first 50 players to register online.
